

Aultro the Robhunter

Written by Aayan P. Jain

Illustration by Aahan Aseem Jain

Inspired by Trollhunters

Contents

I Become.....	3
I Hear Importance .....	4
I Kill Intruck .....	5
I Enter Lamber .....	6
I Vanish .....	7
I Arrive on the Terential Plates.....	8
The Ghost of Intruck.....	9
The Revenge of Lamber.....	10
The Ghost of Outruck .....	11
The Creation of the Dark .....	12
The Death of the Creation of the Dark .....	13
I Meet Gritzan.....	14
I Face the Two Forces.....	15
The Falix Deathtron.....	16
I Kill Gritzan.....	17
Outruck's New Form of Destruction.....	18
Outruck Recreates His Empire.....	19
The Recreation of the Dark .....	20
I Kill Outruck and the Recreation .....	21
The Ending .....	22

I Become

Hi, my name is Aultro. One day, I found something under a bridge. It looks like an amulet. Just that split into three pieces, I thought. I picked up the amulet. On its side, an incantation glowed green. I said the incantation and armour surrounded me. This is so awesome I thought. I began to run back home to tell my parents what happened when a weird-looking creature with metallic skin stopped me in my tracks. “Stop human! I am Igligous Galadrigal of Obiterd Roboville and I command you to stop! What you are holding now is the Amulet of Robots. It chooses a fighter to protect our kind. That fighter is named the Robhunter. Now you must protect our kind of robots. So I and Ogert will train you to become a good fighter. We can only come out of our home when it is raining or at night. The amulet’s pieces activate different armours. Good luck!” said Igligous and walked into the night. I decided to keep it a secret.

I Hear Importance

I found out that being the Robhunter wasn't that bad. I learnt the rules of being a true Robhunter, such as not being afraid and if needed, to die valiantly in battle. I also learnt to do Robquondo. It was so cool. Also, my birthday was coming up and I was so excited about the presents. One day in Roboville, Igligous had scared the life out of himself when he had told us the history of Outruck, the part where Outruck was trapped in Lamber. We all laughed at him except my best friend, Hooping, since he NEVER laughs. I decided it was time for me to go home. I mounted my bike and cycled out of Roboville. So did Hooping. We dashed down the street, our hair flying in the wind. Suddenly, I saw something. It looked like a flying robot. It was a lackching. I knew this because Igligous had told me about all the different types of robots and facts about them. I saw the lackching again. This time it swooped down and scratched my bike. I jumped up and activated my armour. Taking my sword off my back, I stuck it into the lackching. It died instantly. I returned to Roboville and told Igligous about the lackching. Igligous was shocked. He finally told me something about Intruck, who was the son of Outruck. Outruck and his army were in a place called Lamber. Intruck was the only one free. No Robhunter had ever killed Intruck. I was amazed. I became determined to kill Intruck once I heard that. I walked home with Hooping.

I Kill Intruck

I walked home peacefully, the wind blowing in my face. Suddenly, a big robot blocked my path, appearing from nowhere. It had a robe on its body. "Aultro, I suppose. The new Robhunter. Die!!" Intruck roared. And I stood there, petrified with fear. I slowly found the strength to activate my armour and slowly walk backwards. Intruck then charged at full speed. He punched me so hard that I flew across the road. I got up and ran at Intruck. I picked up so much speed that I became a blur. Then I charged in front of Intruck and attacked. He dodged me. Next time when I attacked, he wasn't aware and he burned to ashes. I was so relieved I didn't die.

I Enter Lamber

After the Intruck incident, I wanted to kill Outruck more than ever. I went to Roboville's secret hiding spot. I went to the Bridge of Lamber, which had been destroyed by Incratius, the Robhunter who trapped Outruck and his army in Lamber, and exchanged the green and orange pieces positions. My armour turned orange and I let the green piece float to the Bridge's core. The Bridge constructed itself and a vortex appeared. I jumped into the vortex and found myself in a weird place which I guessed was Lamber. I quickly found the palace of Outruck and easily killed Outruck and his army. I then returned to the Bridge and went into the vortex. When I arrived to the real world, I used my sword to destroy the Bridge.

I Vanish

I was very pleased with myself for killing Outruck so easily. I walked home happily with Hooping. Just as I got home, a giant tornado sucked me up and I screamed in terror.

I Arrive on the Terential Plates

The tornado swirled across the world quickly and unseen. Suddenly, the tornado blasted into the sky and disappeared. I fell to the ground and landed in a heap on the ground. I realised I was on the Terential Plates, the place where spirits went to after they died. I knew this because Igligous had told me about it. There were so many spirits, I thought I saw Intruck. My imagination is going crazy I thought. When the form I thought was Intruck marched up to me and I got a closer look at him. It really was Intruck!

The Ghost of Intruck

Our eyes met and I saw Intruck's rage boiling in him, waiting for my death to come so he could vanquish me here. But he did not need to wait anymore. Intruck suddenly charged at me, his sword above his ghostly head. I quickly activated my armour and blocked his attack with my sword. The furious Intruck put his sword behind his head and closed his eyes to insert all his strength in a deadly strike. I didn't see him and I was flung into the air. I landed in a heap on the ground, blood oozing profusely from the wound on my shoulder. I shook off the feeling and struck with my sword. Intruck stumbled back, so I took the opportunity and sliced Intruck's sword into bits. Intruck roared and retreated.

The Revenge of Lamber

I then decided to sleep. I used my bag as a pillow and fell asleep immediately. I had this weird dream. The remaining army of Outruck which was in Lamber wanted revenge on me for killing Outruck. They said something about being free from Lamber. I heard them saying they wanted to kill me. They began to brainstorm. One suggested they bomb me with, well, bombs. Another suggested that they disguise a bomb as a present, put it at my doorstep and ring the doorbell. Then, another said, "That is a dumb idea, since the boy is on the Terential Plates." After a long argument, they decided they would create an evil being to kill me. They said they would call it the Creation of the Dark. I then woke up and decided that the dream was only a coincidence.

The Ghost of Outruck

I was wandering the Terential Plates, feeling extra bored and hot in my armour. Suddenly, a figure marched up to me. It was Outruck! He took the opportunity and knocked my sword out of my hand. I saw glory in his eyes. But I was not afraid. I kicked him in the- you know what? It was painful. Anyways, Outruck waddled off, covering his you-know-what (do you?) with his hands. I smiled and then laughed.

The Creation of the Dark

That night, I snored my head off. I dreamt of that army again. The first thing I heard was them laughing out, "We got him good, guys! Now he's suffering on the Terential Plates!!! Ha, ha! Now we know where the Lord is!" They then used their power to create another tornado and they hopped in. They immediately arrived and they marched formally to their master, who was sitting and meditating. I then woke up and ran to that place on the Plates. I hid behind a boulder and watched quietly. The army awoke Outruck from his meditation and Outruck opened his eyes. He demanded to know why they had come. They replied that they needed his power to create the Creation of the Dark. They all then combined their powers and created the Ultimate Vortex of Realms. From the Vortex appeared a figure of darkness. That figure was known as the Creation of the Dark. Then when the army was not looking, I ran to the tornado and escaped to the real world. But the Creation saw me from the corner of his eye and jumped into the tornado with me.

The Death of the Creation of the Dark

I was unaware that the Creation had followed me to the real world. The Creation followed me everywhere. It had been collecting info on me but I had no idea. It was looking to see if I was worthy of it's full attention. It was getting ready to crush me and I was doing stupid, darn schoolwork. One night, it made it's way to the field near to my home. It had taken the amulet from me, secretly. It took out the purple gem and put a black gem of darkness in it's place. Then it teleported the amulet back to my house. The next morning, I saw the black gem and realised it was the work of the Creation. I used the other gems power to turn the black gem purple again. The Creation was furious. It set the entire village on fire. A few people managed to escape it's wrath, while others died in agony. I saw this and activated my armour. Then I marched towards the Creation and kicked it. But the Creation blocked it with dark magic. I then used my sword to slice the Creation into two. It roared in anger as it burst into dust. All the fire went out, instantly. The villagers thanked me deeply for killing the Creation of the Dark.

I Meet Gritzan

One day, I was wandering in the field near my home when a small patch of darkness appeared on the grass in front of me. I put my hand on the patch, calmly. But suddenly, the patch enlarged and I fell in! It was so dark in there; I activated my armour for light. Then, I saw a figure in the light of my amulet. It roared in anger as if I had killed one of its relatives or something. It roared again, but this time it roared the word "Gritzan". I guessed it was its name. I then grabbed my sword and charged at him, realising he wanted to kill me. Gritzan just disappeared into darkness. Then, my armour's light went off and I found myself back in the field, my amulet in my hand. I decided to tell Igligous and I ran to Roboville, hoping he would know who was this mysterious Gritzan.

I Face the Two Forces

I was running about in Roboville, trying to find Igligous, when two robots blocked my way. They had eyes which were an unusual shade of blue. I activated my armour and pointed my sword at them, but they didn't budge. Then, I raised my sword up and brought it down on one of the robots. Clang! The sword made a sound like metal clanging together. I realised this could only be Gritzan's work. I then thought of using the other armours. Igligous told me they had hidden powers. So I put the orange gem into the green gem's place and said the new incantation which was written on the amulet. Orange armour covered my body and a sword appeared in my hand. Then, I sliced the robots through their stomachs. They crumbled to dust.

The Falix Deathtron

In one of my dreams, I saw Gritzan. He looked furious about the death of his forces. He decided to create a being that was impossible to destroy. A being which was immortal. He used his power to summon the Vortex of Realms. From there, appeared the Deathly Doom of Mankind, or its real name, the Falix Deathtron. Gritzan commanded it to kill me once and for all. The Falix Deathtron set out on his quest to kill me. He was keen on following through to his new master's orders, as I guessed. He would kill me and collect my bones. Then, suddenly, I woke up. I ran to my window and I saw the Falix Deathtron causing havoc in the village. He froze people and set fire to houses. Seeing this, I became angry. I activated my orange armour and jumped out of my room's window. I screamed. My anger unlocked something I never knew I had- Evil. I grabbed my sword and charged at the Deathtron. The Deathtron shot fire at me, but I had unlocked not only evil, but newfound strength. I easily used my sword to backfire the blast. But, the Deathtron dodged it. I then sliced the Deathtron. I kicked and punched, attacking with no mercy. But the Deathtron threw me back. This time, I threw the amulet into the air and said an incantation. Blue armour covered me and I attacked with my sword. The Deathtron was thrown back. I stepped on his chest, my eyes showing no mercy. "Please, I beg you! Don't kill me! I will serve you forever!" said the Deathtron. But I just raised my sword above my head and brought it down on the Deathtron's chest. He disappeared into nothingness. Then, since he was dead, my evil drifted off me. The village was normal again, so I walked home, happy with myself.

I Kill Gritzan

In yet another dream, I saw Gritzan again. It looked like he was tired of having his warriors killed. He realised the only way to kill me is to do it himself. He set off to my village. I woke up and got dressed. Then I jumped out of my bedroom window and hid in some bushes. I then activated my armour. I knew that Gritzan's power was no more, since he had used all of it on summoning and creating warriors. Gritzan came, eventually. Then I jumped out of the bushes and pointed my sword at him. Suddenly, he kicked me back. But I remained calm. Gritzan then charged at me. But I had quick reflexes and I jumped over him. Then, without thinking, I kicked him in the groin. Gritzan yowled in pain. I took the opportunity and sliced him in half. He turned to powder and I climbed up the wall back to my window.

Outruck's New Form of Destruction

In a dream, I saw the remaining army of Outruck on the Terential Plates. They had been trying to make a new form for Outruck. They had been working on formulas day and night. One night, they decided to use their powers. They put a huge rock in the middle of an area. Then they blasted their powers on it and from the smoke emerged a suit of metal. They showed it to Outruck and he looked pleased. He blasted his power over himself and he disappeared. Then a figure emerged in the suit. That figure was Outruck.

Outruck Recreates His Empire

In the same dream, I saw Outruck. He had decided to recreate his evil empire. He told his small army to break into jails and take all the criminals they can. The army obeyed their master and set off on the long journey. In a few hours, they returned carrying thousands of people in their arms. Outruck looked very pleased. The soldiers dumped the criminals in front of Outruck and Outruck used his incredible power to turn them into robots. He also helped them unleash their inner evil. He then got the idea to summon the Creation of the Dark again.

The Recreation of the Dark

All the soldiers were getting ready for the Creation's return. Then, Outruck arrived. Everyone bowed down before him. He created the Vortex of Realms again and called out, "O Creation of the Dark, hear me! I summon you back to the real world to vanquish your murderer, Aultro the Ninja!" Then, from the Vortex appeared a figure which looked like the Creation. It was! "You will now be known as the Recreation of the Dark." said Outruck.

I Kill Outruck and the Recreation

I woke up and got dressed, thinking the dream was just a coincidence. Then I went for a stroll in the village. I was walking peacefully, when suddenly, a hand pulled me into the sewer. That someone was the Recreation of the Dark. He looked at me cunningly. I activated my blue armour and pointed my sword at the Recreation. Our eyes locked and I threw my sword at him. He dodged it and threw a blast of fire at me. I reflected it back with my sword, which I had collected just then. I couldn't see the Recreation so I went back up to my house and grabbed my bicycle. I cycled to the map of the country and found the Recreation's obvious hiding spot. I cycled there in no time and killed the guards in a flash. I made my way to the GrandRobot cave and went to Outruck's throne through the rocks. I took his sword, but he noticed. He got ready to fight me. I caught him off guard and sliced him in half. He screamed in pain as he turned to dust. The Recreation then jumped into the fight. He threw his power on me but I dodged it. The power blast sapped his strength and I killed him with one cut of my sword. The Recreation burst into powder. I happily cycled home. When I arrived, I lay down in the field.

The Ending

I sprinted back home, hoping a nice dinner was waiting for me at home. After I arrived home, I quietly wolfed down my food and went up to my room. After a hot shower, I brushed my teeth and climbed into bed. As I stared at the stars outside my window, I drifted off to sleep wondering who my next opponent would be.

The End

Coming Up:

Stories and tales of Outruck and Intruck

Stay tuned to be the first to read!